

I N L A N D
R I V E R S
N E T W O R K

May 29 2009

The Editor,
The Australian Financial Review,
edletters@afr.com.au

Sir,

further to your page 4 article Rudd buys up water to save Murray (May 29 2009)

Many years of environmentally unsustainable water extraction from NSW inland rivers including the Macquarie, Murrumbidgee, Lachlan, Gwydir and the iconic Darling has left their aquatic and riverine ecosystems sadly depleted.

Anticipated benefits of water buy-back will increase rejuvenation of stressed wetlands, rivers, forests, and increase native fish populations. Furthermore, viable wetlands will not only enhance biodiversity values and their essential ecosystem services, but also tourism values, with consequent benefits to a range of local communities.

Congratulations Mr Rudd and Minister Wong!

Anne E Reeves, B.Sc., OAM,
President, Inland Rivers Network Inc. (IRN Inc)
areeves@ozemail.com.au/coordinator@irnsw.org.au
Suite 504, 32 York St., Sydney NSW.
0407 210 608